PROGRAM

A School to Work Transition Program

FCCPP is proudly supported by the Queensland Government.

A stylized illustration of a person from the waist down, wearing green pants and blue shoes, holding a large open book. The book's pages are a mix of green and yellow. Above the person's head is a large, green-tinted thought bubble. Inside the bubble, the words "Embrace Your Path" are written in a playful, rounded font. Surrounding the text are various line-art illustrations: a bird, a turtle, a cat, a person's face, musical notes, a birdhouse, a person's hands, and a person's head. The entire illustration is set against a white background.

The book is open to a page with a bright yellow-green cover and a dark blue interior. The person's hands are visible holding the edges of the book. The background is plain white.

Overview

FCCPP supports career education in schools and provides a vital link with local employers in the manufacturing, construction, engineering, and health sectors. We provide practical information and real-world experiences to students to enable them to make informed career or study pathway decisions.

FCCPP is funded by the Queensland Government, and managed and delivered by Regional Development Australia Wide Bay Burnett. The initiative has successfully achieved student outcomes in the Fraser Coast, so much that RDAWBB has won a second contract to deliver the program in Gympie region.

The program also delivers a range of activities including:

Industry immersion tours and workshops....

Giving real world insights into career pathways in the manufacturing, construction, engineering and health sectors.

Work experience opportunities....

Facilitating and coordinating opportunities between employers and schools.

Vocational Education and Training in School (VETiS)....

Advising students and families during Senior education and Training (SET) planning.

School-based traineeships and apprenticeships....

linking local employment opportunities with students.

Contemporary industry and employment advice....

Equipping students with the skills and knowledge required to succeed when they enter the workforce. .

Work readiness preparation....

through career planning, resume writing and interview skills

A stylized illustration of a woman with vibrant red hair, shown in profile from the chest up. She is wearing a short-sleeved shirt with horizontal stripes in yellow and dark blue. Her eyes are closed, and her head is tilted slightly upwards, suggesting a state of relaxation or contemplation. The background is a solid light green, with faint, abstract white shapes that resemble leaves or bubbles floating around her. The overall style is clean and modern, with bold outlines and a limited color palette.

Key Learnings

Involving school students in the program's creative identity and branding was crucial to engaging them from the outset. The creative brand that brings FCCPP to life was designed by secondary students through a series of workshops facilitated by LeeLee West, a Fraser Coast artist who specialises in co-designing brands for programs with social impact.

Unfortunately, funding for FCCPP has not been continued as the School to Work Transition Program is a one-off Queensland Government initiative.

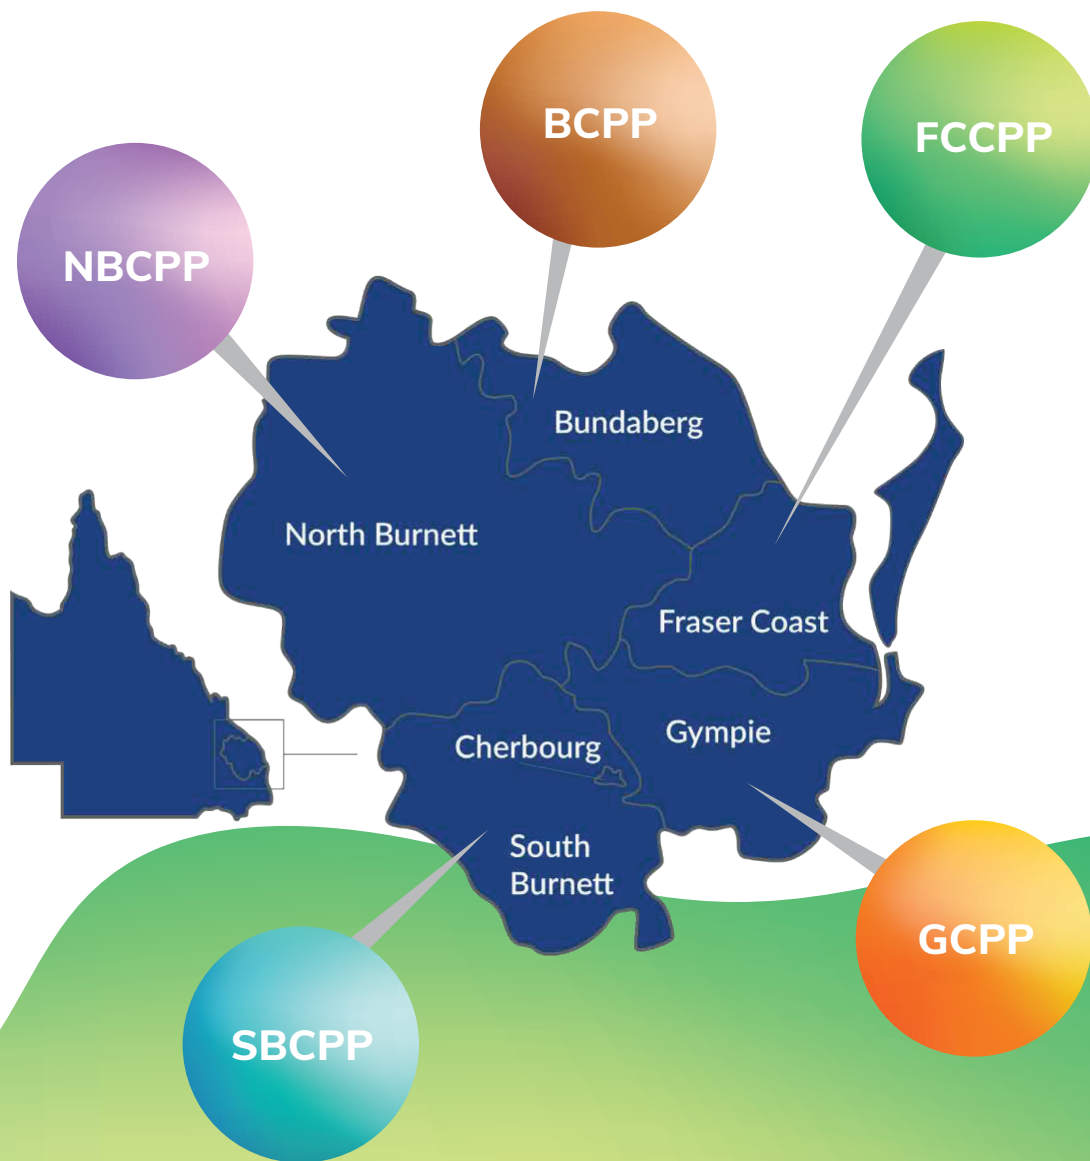

FCCPP is a locally driven solution to address regional skills gaps and promote youth employment. Funding arrangements for the program could be reviewed by Government, to enable continued investment into a program that has demonstrated with significant social and economic impact.

Key Recommendations

FCCPP's model and program logic can be duplicated statewide, in areas with the greatest need, to support school to work transition of Queensland's students. Local engagement and activities can be tailored to meet the needs of each region in which the program is delivered..

Replicating Success

Building on the success of the Fraser Coast Career Pathways Program, Regional Development Australia Wide Bay Burnett has secured new funding to expand its impact. The recently launched Gympie Career Pathways Program follows the same proven framework, connecting young people with diverse career opportunities. With a bold vision and strategic planning, we aim to extend this program across the region, creating even more pathways to success.

Program Resources

Over the 18-month funding period (1 July 2023 – 31 December 2024) RDAWBB employed 1 FTE project manager to implement the program.

Unfortunately, the funding for FCCPP has not been continued as the School to Work Transition Program is a one-off Queensland Government initiative.
